The Ophthalmic Anesthesia Society (OAS) is an organization of anesthesiologists, ophthalmologists and nurse anesthetists dedicated to providing the highest quality anesthesia services for ophthalmic surgery. OAS provides education via the exchange of ideas, promotes research and advanced study and is a foundation upon which ophthalmic anesthesia can communicate its interests.

OAS membership benefits include special priority communications on clinical situations requiring immediate attention; legislative alerts pertaining to ophthalmic anesthesia; a newsletter with clinical and political issue updates published three times a year; and access to a directory of OAS members. Most importantly, OAS provides you with advocacy that reflects your interest in providing the highest quality ophthalmic anesthesia.
